

C-Suite H&P Consultation

Protecting Human Capital!

The Impaired Executive Injury, illness or chronic disease can create complex health and productivity issues for owners and senior managers. Such situations create a politically and personally sensitive process for the organization's leadership. While financial protection matters are important, the impact on judgment, decision making, the value of work and career also play a critical role in the final outcome.

The C-Suite H & P (Health & Productivity) consultation focuses on solving complex, costly health and productivity predicaments for senior officers/administrators, board members, executive level managers, senior faculty or principles of an organization

The C-Suite H & P consultation is best used when:

- A senior manager, principle, officer or owner's work performance, decision making, career or leadership development appear to be compromised by an acute or eroding health condition
- There may be gaps, confusion, indecision, fear or resistance to continuing or resuming full work responsibilities during or following an injury, illness or chronic disease.

The C-Suite H & P Consultation includes:

- An in-depth review of current medical information is completed coupled with a personal interview. Relevant health and benefit issues, work capacity, job performance, expectations, goals, priorities and potential options are explored.
- Administration of the Judgment Index™. The Judgment Index is a highly valid, reliable assessment of the capacity for making good judgments and decisions.
- An Executive Work Prescription (E-WorkRx®) offers likely strategies to solve the health and productivity predicament
